In today's complex business environment, it is becoming increasingly important for property managers to know how to address legal and risk management issues. In addition, the course covers important issues concerning torts, contracts, employer/employee relations, property rights, and environmental law. The course also describes the risk management process, covering the assessment of loss exposures and determining how to handle the daily risks that property managers encounter. You will learn about the insurance market, different types of insurance policies, and the claims adjustment process. The course also covers equipment breakdown insurance, which is an area of growing concern for real estate managers.

Major topics covered in this course:

- Conveying and financing real estate
- Property interests and premises liability
